Town Centre Uses and Boundaries Review

1.0 Introduction

1.01 Overview

To inform the Council’s Development Management Document (DMD), a review of the borough’s town centre, district centre, local centres and local parades boundaries has been undertaken.

In particular this review serves as an evidence base for the town centre policies within the DMD to inform the boundaries identified in the Policies Map. The DMD policies include:

- Proposed Submission DMD 25: Locations for New Retail, Leisure and Office Development;
- Proposed Submission DMD 26: Enfield Town;
- Proposed Submission DMD 27: Angel Edmonton, Edmonton Green, Southgate and Palmers Green District Centres; and
- Proposed Submission DMD 28: Large Local Centres, Small Local Centres and Local Parades

Nathaniel Litchfield and Partners were asked to prepare a Town Centres Review in 2007 and an update in 2009 which considered the following three elements:

- Town centre boundaries and primary and secondary shopping areas;
- Maintaining a balance of uses in town centres; and
- Allocation of new retail floorspace by centre.

Evidence and methodologies are set out in the Nathaniel Litchfield and Partners reports of 2007 and 2009 have informed a more detailed review of the town centre boundaries and balance of uses.

1.02 Purpose of this report

The purpose of this report is to provide evidence and justification to support Proposed Submission DMD Policies specifically in relation to updating the Unitary Development Plan and defining the local centres and local parades detail in accordance with the adopted hierarchy designations in the London Plan (2011) and the adopted Core Strategy (2010).

Enfield’s Local Plan

1.1 Methodology

1.11 Approach

The boundaries for Enfield Town and the District Centres were updated through the adoption of the Core Strategy and accompanying Policies Map (2010). This DMD review has focused on the local centre boundaries that were last formally defined and agreed in 1996.

Each local centre boundary was reviewed by:

- Applying existing evidence – these include the Town Centres’ Study (2007) and its Update (2009);
- Undertaking site visits by surveying uses within and at the edge of centres and recording the level of vacancy within the centres and the local parades; and
- Taking into account the built form of each town centre.

Centres were consolidated or split where:

- There were unviable units on the edge of the centre;
- The centres were dispersed;
- There were high levels of vacancies; and
- There were non-commercial uses, such as residential properties.

Centres were expanded where they were vibrant and viable to include peripheral commercial, community uses, particularly where there is evidence of low vacancy rates.

The new boundaries and a summary of the reasons for any change are provided in section 1.4 of this report.

Town Centre Designation Criteria

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th>Criteria</th>
<th>Examples</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Major Centre</td>
<td>The London Plan (2011) suggests that Major Centres should have borough-wide catchment areas. Their attractiveness is derived both from comparison and convenience shopping and in some cases leisure and entertainment functions. Normally have a catchment of over 50,000 sq m of retail floorspace. High level of accessibility in a local and strategic context. Major Centres are accessible for pedestrians and are within walking distance to a transport node and major bus route. Located upon or close to the strategic road network. Contains primary and secondary frontages making up a primary shopping area. Enfield borough has 1 major centre – Enfield Town.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>District Centres</td>
<td>The London Plan suggests District Centres traditionally provide convenience goods and services for more local communities, although some may have developed specialist shopping functions. Generally accommodates between 10,000 to 50,000 sq m of retail floorspace (depending on the character and needs of the area). High level of accessibility in a local and strategic context. District Centres are accessible for pedestrians and are within walking distance to a transport node and major bus route. Located upon or close to the strategic road network. Typically contain a good range of comparison shopping, along with supermarkets and non-retail services. Evidence suggests that the designation of primary and secondary frontages is not appropriate or necessary within the four district centres. Land use surveys indicate that the four district centres do not have specific concentrations of retail use within core areas, and non retail uses are spread more evenly through the centres than in Enfield Town. Enfield borough has four district centres: Angel Edmonton, Edmonton Green, Southgate and Palmers Green.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Local Centres and Local Shopping Parades</td>
<td>Generally under 10,000 sq m of retail floorspace. Large Local Centres – over 40 outlets and over 4,000 sq m of gross floorspace; Local parades – between 6 to 20 outlets, no floorspace defined; and Local facilities – less than 6 retail outlets.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Enfield’s Local Plan

<td>Local centres – not defined, but covers those that fit between 20-40 outlets and less than 4,000 sq m gross floorspace; Local parades – between 6 to 20 outlets, no floorspace defined; and Local facilities – less than 6 retail outlets.</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

The Town Centre study recommends resisting the loss of shop units (A1, A2, A3, A4 and A5) and other community services within defined centres. The key facilities that should be protected in local centres and local shopping parades include:
- Food supermarkets or convenience stores;
- Post office counters;
- Newsagents; and
- Chemists.
Other facilities include:
- Banks (ATMs);
- Off licences;
- Takeaways/cafes;
- Public houses;
- Opticians;
- Hairdressers/barbers;
- Dry cleaners;
- DVD/video hire shops;
- Shoe repairs;
- Health centres, dentists etc;
- Libraries;
- Schools; and
- Community halls and associated facilities.
Enfield borough has 17 large local centres, 10 local centres, and 34 local parades.
Town Centre Uses and Boundaries Review

1.3 Factors Informing the Review

This section sets out the key policy framework focusing specifically on town centre strategy policy formulation and the management of growth and change.

1.3.1 National Planning Policy Framework, March 2012

Section 2 of the NPPF addresses the viability of town centres. Of particular importance include paragraphs 23 to 27 as summarised below:

- Planning policies should be positive, promote competitive town centre environments and set out policies for the management and growth of centres over the plan period.
- Local planning authorities should apply a sequential test to planning applications for main town centre uses that are not in an existing centre and are not in accordance with an up-to-date Local Plan. They should require applications for main town centre uses to be located in town centres, then in edge of centre locations and only if suitable sites are not available should out of centre sites be considered.
- This sequential approach should not be applied to applications for small scale rural offices or other small scale rural development.
- When assessing applications for retail, leisure and office development outside of town centres, which are not in accordance with an up-to-date Local Plan, local planning authorities should require an impact assessment if development is over a proportionate, locally set floorspace threshold (if there is no locally set threshold, the default threshold is 2,500 sq m).
- Where an application fails to satisfy the sequential test or is likely to have significant adverse impact on one or more of the above factors, it should be refused.

1.3.2 London Plan (2011)

The London Plan published in 2011 is the spatial development strategy for Greater London setting out an integrated social, economic and environmental framework for future development over the next 15-20 years. It seeks to promote London as a World City and to maintain and enhance the competitiveness of business, including encouraging services, tourism, culture and the arts. It promotes urban regeneration particularly in areas requiring physical improvement, the enhancement of employment opportunities and seeks to maximise housing provision and to facilitate development of efficient transport systems.

The Plan adopts a policy of “structured choice” which concentrates the supply of retail and leisure facilities and services in the most accessible places and spreads them between central London, town centres and “Opportunity Areas” such as the Upper Lee Valley. Policy 4.7: Retail and Town Centre Development states that London boroughs should enhance access to goods and services and strengthen the wider role of their town centres to:

Enfield’s Local Plan

- Encourage retail, leisure and other related uses in town centres and discourage them outside the town centres;
- Improve access to town centres by public transport, cycling and walking;
- Enhance the quality of retail and other consumer services in town centres;
- Designate core areas primarily for shopping uses and secondary areas for shopping and other uses; and
- Undertake regular town centre health checks.

1.3.3 Enfield’s Local Plan

In 2010, the Council adopted its Core Strategy which sets the spatial framework for development of the borough over the next 15 to 20 years. It is a strategic document providing the broad strategy for the scale and distribution of development and the provision of supporting infrastructure. It contains core policies for guiding patterns of development.

The adopted Core Strategy defines the existing hierarchy of centres and policy objectives for shopping and town centres across Enfield. There are over 70 local shopping centres and parades, these vary significantly in terms of their size and mix of uses. However, they play an important role in ensuring that residents have access to a basic range of small shops and services.

Enfield’s hierarchy of town centres are shown in Table 6.3 of the Core Strategy and is set out below:

Description

Enfield Town is the main shopping and commercial centre in the borough. It is designated as a major centre in the London Plan and Enfield’s Core Strategy. It has a large number of retail and service uses. The centre serves shoppers from across the borough and beyond, particularly for comparison shopping. The primary shopping frontages are shown in the map overleaf. Its key roles include:

- Convenience shopping – including bakers, a fishmonger, several newsagents and Waitrose and Tesco supermarkets. There is also a food hall in the Marks and Spencers store. These facilities serve main food and top up shopping trips for visitors;
- Comparison shopping – a range of multiple and independent shops selling high and lower order comparison goods. There is a good selection of multiples, mainly located within the Palace Gardens and Palace Exchange shopping centres;
- Services – including a good range of high street national banks, cafes, restaurants, takeaways, travel agents and hairdressers/beauty parlours;
- Entertainment – including several pubs and bars; and
- Community facilities – including a careers centre, public library and Civic Centre.

Although the town centre boundary may appear to have expanded to include the library and St Andrews Church, these areas were previously covered by Metropolitan Open Land and Open Spaces layers on the Proposals Map accompanying the Core Strategy in 2010. Therefore no changes are proposed to the town centre boundary.

The Council is preparing an Area Action Plan and/or masterplan for Enfield Town. The AAP will support an improved shopping environment for Enfield Town.

<tr>

</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Description
The recent TfL environmental and safety improvements works has involved some highway widening for cycle lanes and this has resulted in the removal of parking bays that served the business units at Ritz Parade. The addition of double red lines along this section of the North Circular has further restricted parking and reduced access to these commercial units.

A combination of inaccessibility due to lack of parking, high traffic volumes, traffic congestion and historical under investment in the North Circular area has affected the vitality of the retail offer in this centre. The NCR acts as a strong physical divide for much of the centre’s functions, with a number units struggling on the southern side owing to the TfL improvement scheme. The southern stretch of the centre retains only one viable and active retail section between 167 – 125 (odd numbers only) Brownlow Road and Livingstone Road. The sections to the west and east of these units are predominantly residential and should be excluded.

Justification
The North Circular Road Area Action Plan envisages the area known as Ritz Parade as a key Neighbourhood Place, attracting a mix of retail and business uses to meet local community needs.

The boundary adjustment provides a more central focus and viable commercial Parade. Additional land to the west and north of Ritz Parade has been included to provide greater commercial opportunity. And the boundary consolidated along the southern sections, opposite Ritz Parade and beyond Livingstone Road as these are largely in residential use and serve no local centre function.

The revised boundary gives greater focus to protect local services which serve an important community function.

- To focus around Bush Hill Park station; and
- To include community facilities on Queen Anne’s Place and Bush Hill Park Hotel on First Avenue adjacent to the station. |

Description

The Bush Hill Park area is the location of a number of retail centres which are in close proximity. This centre is interspersed with an approximately 150m length of residential properties. It operates as two different nodes that are separated by the railway line. A small supermarket has opened recently close to St Mark’s Road.

Justification

The centre is consolidated and considered as a multi-nodal centre excluding over 150m in length of residential properties with the town centre focussed at the eastern and western nodes. The boundary is revised to focus around the station by including Bush Hill Park Hotel adjacent to the station and the community facilities between 1 to 5 Queen Anne’s Place.

The revised boundary retains the primary retail role of the centre whilst supporting other non-retail uses falling within “A” use classes and community uses that provide a complementary role. It gives greater focus to protect local services serving an important community function.

| 67-217 Bramley Road & 1-2 Oakwood Parade, Bramley Road. | Town centre boundary is revised:
- To include Oakwood Station and commercial units 126 to 135 Bramley Road adjacent to the station; and
- To exclude 95 Bramley Road and units 1 and 2 on Oakwood Parade. |

Description

The centre consists mostly of parade buildings, at 67-79 and 155-217 Bramley Road. They were built in the same era as Oakwood station which opened in 1933. The series of adjoining purpose built retail parades at 155-217 Bramley Road forms the core of the centre and are set back from the main carriageway of Bramley Road. The stretch along 67-79 Bramley Road is a smaller purpose-built parade. The railway station concourse contains two small retail units.

Recent development at 95 Bramley Road (a former public house) is being redeveloped for housing. Unit 1 Oakwood Parade is a standalone retail unit; and unit 2 is in non-retail uses.

The centre provides important day-to-day goods and services for the neighbouring area.

Justification

The centre boundary is consolidated to exclude 95 Bramley Road which has been converted from a public house to residential units, while including units 1 and 2 on Oakwood Parade. The boundary revision focuses the centre on Oakwood station by including the two units adjacent to the station to maintain a critical mass of retail within the town centre boundary.

Following revisions, the primary retail role of the centre is maintained.

The majority of the retail units are located on the High Street (A1010), with a small number also located on South Street. It has a reasonably large number of retail and services. Southbury station is located 500m to the east of the centre.

The centre serves shoppers from the immediate and adjoining areas of Ponders End, providing intermediate range of retail services to the local community.

Justification

The boundary is revised to include the library and church in front of College Court.

It has a reasonable number of retail and service uses for a local centre, accommodated in a series of Edwardian and 1920s purpose-built parades with a high degree of architectural consistency.

Justification

The existing town centre boundary is revised at the south western edge to include the two office buildings and at the north eastern edge to exclude an office building.

The revised boundary maintains the critical mass of retail within the town centre boundary and strikes a balance of retail and non-retail uses to complement the vitality and viability of town centres.

The parades are architecturally similar and there is a strong coherence of style and a visual unity to the centre.

The existing definition of the centre includes a semi-demolished former industrial site at the eastern end of the centre which the Council would encourage to be redeveloped for retail at street level to create satisfactory functional and visual termination of the centre.

A community hall is situated adjacent to no. 60 Main Avenue.

This centre provides day-to-day goods and services primarily to meet the local needs of the residents in the Bush Hill Park area.

Justification

The boundary is retained and revised to include the community hall adjacent to No.60 Main Avenue.

The revised boundary maintains the primary retail role of the centre, whilst supporting community uses that provide a complementary role. It gives greater focus to protect local services serving an important community function.

Description

This centre is situated in close proximity to Enfield Town. It contains a row of two consecutive purpose-built parades accommodating a variety of retail outlets providing for day-to-day needs for local residents in the neighbourhood.

The existing definition of the centre includes over 100m in length of largely residential properties to the east of the railway line.

New small local centre designation:
- Designation updated to Local Centre from the previous Core Strategy designation as a local shopping parade; and
- The centre includes shops, commercial units, offices and a fitness centre.

Description
This is a purpose-built small centre constructed in the 1990s as part of the redevelopment of the Royal Small Arms factory. The centre provides day-to-day needs for local residents in the neighbourhood which is relatively geographically isolated and thus has no ready access to other retail facilities.

The centre was identified as local shopping parade in the Core Strategy, but the definition of the parade was not identified in the SPG to the UDP.

Justification
Given that there are over 20 shop units providing day-to-day goods and services primarily to meet the local needs of the residents in the Enfield Island Village area, a boundary is identified between 54-58 Island Centre Way and it is now designated as a small local centre.

It gives greater focus to protect local services serving an important community function.

Description

This Local Centre radiates out from a crescent group of 19th Century lock up shops to the east side of the High Street. The centre has evolved over time to encompass a late 19th century parade to the north east and more recent ad hoc commercial additions to the north west including a building merchants and purpose built office block.

The centre is viewed as a vital historic asset to the Southgate Green Area, particularly in relation to the strong aesthetic of the crescent, Woolpack public house and the Grade II Listed No.27 High Street to the west.

Justification

The expansion of the centre to the north to encompass the purpose built offices at 71-75 High Street formalises the boundary of the centre and clearly separates the predominately residential uses in the surrounding area from the distinctive character and entity of the commercial centre.

- Is revised to exclude properties 22-30 Vera Avenue and units to the rear of 16-28 The Grangeway;
- Is revised to include the restaurant/public house at the western edge of the parade; and
- The centre includes 17-35 and 16-28 The Grangeway; 1-7, 2-12 and the Harvester restaurant, Vera Avenue.

Description
This shopping parade is separated by the Hertford Loop railway line, with most of the retail premises located in two parades on either side of the line on Vera Avenue and The Grangeway.

The parades consist of three/four storey Edwardian buildings with purpose-built retail accommodation on the ground floor.

To the rear of units 17-35 The Grangeway are some light industrial units.

On Vera Avenue, to the west of the railway, has a greater diversity of building types and land uses, with retailing occupying only four or five buildings. Additionally, the existing definition of the centre includes five residential properties between 22 - 30 Vera Avenue.

A Harvester restaurant is situated adjacent to 7 Vera Avenue.

Justification
The existing town centre boundary is revised at the eastern edge to exclude the garages to the rear of 16-28 The Grangeway. The western edge is revised by excluding the five residential properties between 22 - 30 Vera Avenue, and including the Harvester restaurant situated adjacent to unit 7 Vera Avenue.

The revised boundary maintains the critical mass of retail within the town centre boundary and strikes a balance of retail and non-retail uses to complement the vitality and viability of the town centre.
